The Bill4Time Android App is Near

Since the dawn of the Android, we've gotten requests for a mobile time tracking and billing app. We're pretty excited about the workings in the Development department and it's almost ready to be launched! Although it's still in progress (and the development team is still a bit secretive about releasing all the details) here are a few things you can expect from the upcoming Bill4Time Android app:

- Timers – track billable and internal time
- Entries – see individual entries with a running daily total
- Clients – access client descriptions and contact information
- Accounts – monitor outstanding balances and payment history
